To whom it may concernRe: Mr Yaolin GE (Registration Number: 201749363)

I am very pleased to have the chance to recommend Mr Ge for a PhD position. I taught Yaolin during the first semester of the 2017-2018 academic session when he was registered here in the Department of Naval Architecture, Ocean and Marine Engineering at Strathclyde as an undergraduate exchange student. I taught him the NM404 Ship Structural Dynamics module, which he passed with 91%, corresponding to a first class grade.

As I can see from his records at Strathclyde, I can confirm that he passed all his modules (60 credits, equalling to 30ECTS credits in total) with first class marks, showing his academic success and intellectual background. I am also very happy to see from his 1st year master transcripts from NTNU that he excelled very well at NTNU. I am therefore certain that Yaolin is aware of his duties and responsibilities at any level.

I am delighted to hear he is pursuing a PhD studentship at your University. He will undoubtedly continue to excel, and with his natural enthusiasm for research I feel he would be an asset to your institution. If you need any further information about Yaolin, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Yours sincerely,

Dr Tahsin Tezdogan, MSc, FHEA
